Consistent with ODC Network's mission of advancing outdoor education and conservation in West Michigan, the camp program promotes hands-on learning, outdoor exploration, appreciation of wildlife and natural habitats, cultural learning, recreation, creativity, and conservation awareness. Camp activities vary by age and program and include nature hikes, wildlife and habitat exploration, fishing, pond and aquatic investigations, arts and crafts, outdoor games, conservation projects, and ecological learning. Through these nature-based experiences, campers develop knowledge and skills while engaging with Michigan's environment in supervised group settings.
